Dear Max,

The Sierra Nevada Unit has reviewed its Constitution and Bylaws and submits the result to you. We made several changes in how we structure the constitution and bylaws. None of these changes will modify the way SNU does business. They just simplify the documents. The wording of the clauses remains the same except for minor corrections and clarifications or changes necessary to keep up with WBCCI requests.

One change is to combine the constitution and bylaws into one document in accord with the recommendation of the parliamentary authority accepted by the WBCCI and SNU: Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised.

A second change is to move committee descriptions and other non-governance clauses to policy.

A third change is to cite the WBCCI Constitution and Bylaws rather than to repeat them where we can. This primarily involves membership qualifications and the mission statement.

I have reviewed the requirements for our governance documents in the WBCCI Constitution and Bylaws and also the requests and samples of your committee to assure that we remain in compliance as necessary and appropriate.

The SNU hopes that you can use this document for ideas and suggestions in your own efforts to support WBCCI Units that do not need nor desire the structure and formality that is inherent and assumed in the standard model.

Sincerely

Bryan Leipper
